Increase	$196,316
Total Increase		$1,612,566
No. of assessed polls	2323
Soldiers' exemptions	382

The total amount needed for town expenses in 1920 was $267,949 and this is reduced by the income tax of $23,638, leaving the total needed for actual raising by taxation $244,311.

SUCCESSFUL OUTING

Tyer Rubber Co. Foremen Make Trip to Marblehead. Enjoy Shore Dinner and Sports.

The foremen of the Tyer Rubber Co., held a very enjoyable outing at Marblehead Neck Saturday afternoon about forty making the trip. After arriving at the picnic grounds the committee in charge, Ralph E. Nash, Harry Carr, Louis G. Buck and Robert Loehhead carried out a program of sports. The tug of war, an event in which the Tyer Rubber men claim exclusive rights, was won by Capt. Lewallen's team after a bitter struggle. The captain's training in the State Guard stood him in excellent stead and he was ably supported by Lochhead, Low, Cole, Angus and Hannon.

The races were also closely contested, with Ralph Beverly and Sam Harris carrying off the honors. Carr also figured.

CHANGES IN TEACHING FORCE

Ten New Teachers Take Places of Those Who Resigned During Summer. Additional Sixth Grade in Pynchard Building.

WORK ON BRIDGE BEGUN

Construction of Bridge and Warehouse Started in Shawshen Village on Monday.

Work on the new reinforced concrete bridge at Shawshen Village was started on Monday morning, and the contractors, the Collins Construction company, of Andover, will keep a large gang of men on the job in an effort to finish the work as speedily as possible. If there are no difficulties in the way, they hope to complete the bridge by early December.

In connection with the erection of the new bridge, Haverhill street from Shawshen Village center to Burnham road will be straightened on a line with Lowell street at its junction with Main street. The roadbed will be raised about a foot, which besides improving the street will also allow a greater water clearance for the arch of the bridge.

With these changes in the road and the completion of the bridge, the appearance of Shawshen Village will be vastly improved, as the construction of the bridge has held up several improvements which Mr. Wood has been waiting to make.

When the public schools open on Monday, September 13, there will be numerous changes in the teaching force, nine teachers having resigned at the end of the last school year. A new sixth grade room is to be opened in the old Pynchard building, making a total of ten new teachers.

Three of these changes will be at the High School. Miss Edna W. Simmons, who for four years has been the assistant in the English department has resigned to accept a similar position in New Britain, Conn. Her place will be taken by Miss Lillian J. Fox. Miss Edna Bennett and Miss Marjory Moore, teachers in the business department will be succeeded by Miss Hazel Underwood, recently of Indiana, and by Miss Evelyn Webb of Brookline. Miss Webb was formerly a teacher in New Britain, Conn., but for the last three years has held a position in a business office.

At the Stowe School, Miss Pauline Coppinger will take the place filled last year by Miss Ethel M. Keeney. Miss Coppinger is returning to her work after a year spent at home.

Miss Avis Antill, a graduate of the Gorham Normal School, will have charge of the new Grade VI room to be opened in the Pynchard building.

COPLEY

The next play of Henry Jewett's fifth season at the Copley Theatre will be W. Somerset Maugham's "Caroline," this being the first opportunity for Bostonians to see a play described as "the finest light comedy that the American stage has known in many years." In

LAWRENCE

Monday, August 30.—After spending $60,000 for dredging in the Merrimack river at the Central bridge, Commissioner John N. Cole of the State Department of Public Works notified Mayor White that his department is not satisfied with the work done and states that the work must be completed to the satisfaction of his department. Forty-four hundred and four "investors" placed $1,168,561 into the defunct Securities Exchange Company through its branch office in this city. The work of the Republican women of the city began in earnest Friday afternoon at a meeting held at the rooms of the Republican City committee. Mrs. Anna and Brackett, chairman of the City committee, entreated the women in the exercise of their voting power to place righteousness above all else and to insist on decency and honor in the candidates for whom they cast their ballot. That a long litigation over the will of the late Edward F. Seales may be expected seems almost certain from the latest developments. Announcement has been made at Salem that a formal request was made A. L. D. of Register of Probate Horace H. Atherton by counsel representing Albert Victor Seale, a nephew who is bequeathed $250,000 asking that they have an opportunity to be heard on any application made for the appointment of a special administrator. The total estate is conservatively estimated at $500,000. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goldblatt and three children of 34 Bowdoin street were buried beneath their auto when it turned turtle on Southon hill between Andover and Reading yesterday afternoon at 11

"Caroline" Mr. Maugham reveals the ingenuity and skill that he has shown in many other plays and also in several novels. Its plot recounts the adventures of Caroline Ashley, who after ten years of dwelling apart from an impossible husband, suddenly finds herself a widow. Whereupon ensues a series of interesting episodes in her life due to the admiration for her of a man who has been all the time looking for her release from the marriage bonds, and expecting that when the time came there would be nothing to interfere with their marriage. But he reckons without the caprices of changeable woman. But once free, Caroline asks herself why she should be again in bondage, and by means of brilliant dialogue and logical sequence of events the dramatist enables the audience to watch the progress of one of the liveliest comedies ever put upon the stage. The first performance of "Caroline" will be given at a special holiday matinee Monday afternoon, and the play will be acted at the Copley Theatre with Miss Elma Hoyton in the title character and with E. E. Clive, H. Conway Wingfield, Viola Roach, Nicholas Joy, Blanche Le Roy and May Ediss in the other leading roles. The entire production is under the personal direction of Mr. Jewett. Regular matinee performances are given Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and at the Tuesday matinee special one dollar prices for the entire orchestra prevail.

o'clock. —Major Wildman's army recruiting party on the Common has met with such fine success in Lawrence that the stay has been extended until after Labor Day, when the outfit will move to Lowell. With a few exceptions, all the mills in this city closed down last evening for the annual Labor Day vacation which continues until Sept. 7. The beaches and other summer resorts are preparing for the largest crowds in years and last evening in stores in the outlying districts hundreds of people could be seen purchasing supplies for trips which they expect to make during the vacation. The J. F. McGrath establishment was closed until noon Saturday on account of the funeral of Mrs. Mary (Whalen) McGrath which was held at 9 o'clock in St. Laurence's church and burial in the family lot in the Immaculate Conception cemetery. Last week's issue of "The Pilot," the weekly and official organ of the Roman Catholic diocese, gives a report on the enrollment in parochial schools of the state. The total enrolled is 71,011 and of this number 7,130 or a little more than 10 per cent are enrolled in Lawrence parochial schools, and St. Augustine's school in Andover. By parishes the local enrollment is: St. Mary's, 2,121; St. Anne's, 1,867; St. Patrick's, 693; Holy Rosary, 682; Sacred Heart, 661; Holy Trinity, 491; St. Laurence's, 343; St. Augustine's, 269.

Tuesday, September 1 — Tricked by a "double bank" on the north shore of the Merrimack, Anthony Corey, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Corey of 2 Bennington street, was carried beyond his depth by the strong river current and drowned at the swimming hole under the Central bridge Monday morning about 11.30 o'clock. Dredging by Officer John Dineen failed to recover the body of the boy at press-time. The list of precinct officers was read and adopted at the Tuesday meeting of the city council. As was expected, a number of women were appointed. Among the seven who have been active in social and welfare work in the past, Mrs. Mary Lincan, trustee of the Industrial School, was appointed an inspector in Precinct 13 and Mrs. John P. O'Brien, secretary in most of the war drives, was made an inspector in Precinct 5. September 10 is the date on which the police authorities who have started the second week of probe into the business methods of the local office of Ponzi's Securities Exchange Co., expect to complete their examination of the four thousand and more investors and present the collected data to District Attorney S. Howard Donnell. With the enlarged force of five questioning officials and four recording stenographers, the work of grilling the persons involved in Ponzi's transactions, was rapidly reaching a machine-like efficiency Tuesday. On Monday, 221 disciples of the international coupon gave the account of their careers in the altitudes of high finance. One obstacle to the completion of the investigation is the fact that hundreds of persons, recorded in the books of Lamb's office, are now at the beaches, enjoying the annual ten-day vacation, given by the mills. A new arrangement was announced today by City Marshal Timothy J. O'Brien whereby it will be no longer necessary for women who have invested with Charles Ponzi, through the local office of Percy Lamb, to go to the police station to be examined. Beginning tomorrow, officers in plain clothes will call at the homes of these "investors" and will get whatever information necessary in that way.

Power quickly cooled the vindictive passions kindled in Johnson by his long, bitter feud with the southern leaders, and he returned to Lincoln's policy of reconciliation. Wisely, no one was punished for treason. Happily, vengeance for a great war was not wreaked on any individual.

NORTH ANDOVER

Saturday, August 28 —Although the time announced for the registration of voters was 7.30 o'clock, women commenced to gather a half hour earlier and the board began to register them. As the number of females rapidly increased at the selectmen's office, where the meeting took place, the women were obliged to fall in line outside. F. Orris Rea, chairman; Joseph A. Duncan, clerk; Arthur B. Keefe and John J. Willis, the registrars efficiently worked and, instead of nine, when the session closed, instead of nine, as scheduled, 170 names were added to the list. Of the number 22 were men and 148 were women. —Intentions of marriage had been filed by Paul T. Seale, of 62 Dartmouth street, Lawrence, and Miss Ruth F. Clark, of 109 Chestnut street in the center. —A party of about 125, composed of Patrons of Husbandry and their families enjoyed the pleasurable and successful outing at Grape Island Friday, conducted by the North Andover Grange. An old fashioned clam bake was bounteously served at 1 o'clock. An interesting program of sports was carried out in the afternoon. The arrangements were efficiently managed by C. S. Moxley and D. A. Arel, the committee. —The one-man cars were placed in commission here on Sunday.

ANDREW JOHNSON

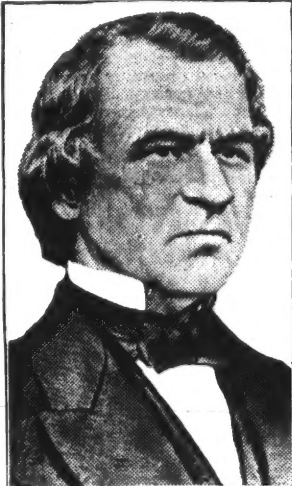

1808—December 29, Andrew Johnson born at Raleigh, N. C.
1826—Opened a tailor shop at Greenville, Tenn.
1827—May 17, married Eliza McCordie.
1830—33—Mayor of Greenville.
1835—39—Member of legislature.
1841—3—State senator.
1843—53—Congressman.
1853—57—Governor of Tennessee.
1857—62—Senator.
1862—5—Military governor of Tennessee.
1864—Elected vice president.
1865—April 15, took the oath as seventeenth president, aged fifty-six.
1866—April, congress overrode his veto of the civil rights bill.

A LOUD rapping on his hotel door in Washington awakened the vice president, Andrew Johnson, to the startling news that the president had been mortally shot. Even before Johnson took the oath the next morning, strong men were laying plans, with unseemly haste, to have him reverse Lincoln's generous policy toward the conquered south.

Lower quickly cooled the vindictive passions kindled in Johnson by his long, bitter feud with the southern leaders, and he returned to Lincoln's policy of reconciliation. Wisely, no one was punished for treason. Happily, vengeance for a great war was not wreaked on any individual.

The radicals, who had secretly rejoiced in Johnson's accession, turned upon him furiously. It was easy for them to excite the doubt of the north in this southerner, and to estrange the Republicans from this Democrat.

For the first time even the sobriety of a president was called into question. Johnson's unfortunate condition at his inauguration as vice president had shocked Charles Sumner into starting a whispered discussion of his enforced resignation. When he became president his intemperate speech lent color to exaggerated reports of his intemperance in drink.

For two years before Lincoln died, the radical leaders had been insisting that congress, not the president should fix the terms of peace for the southern states. They had angrily denounced him as a despot, an autocrat and a usurper, because of his policy of reconstruction. And congress had persistently refused to admit the senators and representatives from the states which he had reconstructed on his liberal plan.

Apart from the Republican politicians and a mere faction of extremists, the north was in favor of Lincoln's moderate policies. But when it became a question between Johnson and the radicals, the radicals won overwhelmingly in the congressional election of 1868.

With a two-thirds majority in the new house and senate, the Republicans overrode the president's vetoes, and congress took command of the government. The reconstructed states were outlawed. The south was divided into military provinces. The ballot was thrust into the unskilled hand of the freedmen, notwithstanding it was still denied the negro in all but six states of the north. At the same time a large class of Southern whites was disfranchised for disloyalty in the war, which left several states to pass under the corrupt government of northern "carpet baggers" and southern "scalawags," who gained power by manipulating the ignorant black vote and who held it by force of federal bayonets.

As northern "fire eaters" pressed to the front, on one side of the Mason and Dixon line, southern "fire eaters" took the lead on the other side. By night the Ku Klux Klan rode their sable horses in a campaign of terrorism to frighten the blacks from using the ballot.

Party and sectional politics, north and south, still was the marplot of the Union. As it had fostered disunion before the war, it was doing its worst to prevent reunion, now that the war was over.

Five Minute Chats on Our Presidents

By JAMES MORGAN

(Copyright, 1920, by James Morgan.)

THE GREAT IMPEACHMENT

1867—March 2, congress passed the reconstruction act over President Johnson's veto.
Also the tenure of office act.
1868—Feb. 22, the House impeached Johnson.
March 5 to May 26, the impeachment trial before the senate, and Johnson acquitted.
1869—March 4, Johnson retired from the presidency.
1872—Defeated for congressman-at-large.
1875—March 12, senator from Tennessee.
July 31, died in Carter county, Tenn., aged sixty-six.

ANDREW JOHNSON'S presidency began with a great tragedy and came near ending in another. With a two-thirds majority in congress, his opponents overrode his vetoes, seized control of reconstruction, stripped the president of authority to dismiss a postmaster or to get rid of an enemy even in his own cabinet, and bound him hand and foot.

Although the president faithfully executed the reconstruction laws that had been passed over his vetoes, he asserted the right, which never before had been denied a president, to choose his own cabinet advisers. When he tried to dismiss Secretary Stanton, Stanton turned the war department into a fort, and for weeks held it, night and day, sleeping and eating at his post.

Emotion having supplanted reason, the house hastened to declare that "in the name of the house of representatives and of the people of the United States we do impeach Andrew Johnson, president of the United States, of high crimes and misdemeanors." Although there were twelve counts in the remarkable indictment, no crimes were specified and the misdemeanors that were alleged, consisted almost wholly of the president's attempts to remove Stanton without the consent of the senate.

This most important trial in American history began on March 5, 1868, with the senate chamber crowded and Chief Justice Chase of the Supreme court in the chair.

There was a general expectation that the senate would convict, no matter how flimsy the case, and crowds of eager partisans flocked to Washington to enjoy the spectacle of a White House eviction—to see "Andy walk the plank." Senator Ben Wade of Ohio was confident to the last that he would be called on, as president of the senate, to take Johnson's place. His inaugural is said to have been written and his cabinet selected, with General Butler of Massachusetts for secretary of state.

As the roll of the senate was called, amid a hushed suspense, the Republican senators all voted for conviction, until the chief justice asked, "Mr. Senator Fessenden, how say you? Is the respondent, Andrew Johnson, president of the United States, guilty or not guilty of a high misdemeanor as charged in this article?"

"Not guilty," answered the distinguished senator from Maine, who had been in Lincoln's cabinet. The party alignment was broken and it was again broken in another moment by Senator Grimes of Iowa, who had been stricken with paralysis under the strain of the trial, but who managed to struggle to his feet when his name was called. Trumbull of Illinois, an old friend of Lincoln, was another man of ability and distinction among the seven Republican senators who broke away and joined the Democrats. Yet there were thirty-five votes for conviction against only nineteen for acquittal, just one less than the two-thirds necessary to convict.

By a single vote the unique independence of the American presidency, which makes it the most eminent and powerful political office in the world, was saved. Had congress triumphed, the first long step would have been taken toward congressional government on the pattern of the parliamentary governments of Europe.

Have Quantity Not Variety for Food In Camp

One of the commonest mistakes made by campers is that of carrying too great a variety of foods. Remember that hunger is the best sauce in the world and that one wholesome dish well cooked and eaten outdoors will be far more healthful and taste far better than the most elaborate meal eaten in a badly ventilated restaurant. The ease with which a man can live in the open is illustrated by a "timber-cruiser" in the Olympic Mountains, who regularly went into the forest with a food outfit consisting of oatmeal and salt. A frying pan, answered for a cooking utensil and plate, and fish and small game rounded out his simple bill of fare. Our forefathers followed practically the same plan, but they substituted parched corn for oatmeal. My reader must not gather from these Spartan examples that life in the open must be one of hunger and self-denial. When a man is working hard he needs good food and plenty of it, but the food standard in civilization is far too large and, I'm not too sure, as a feast. —Belmore Browne in Boys' Life for May.

Noyes of Andover

There is much agitation these long, warm, summer-vacation days concerning religion in creed and life. Universalist, Unitarian, Congregationalist, Presbyterian, and all the many multiples of the Independent churches, as well as the Roman and English communions are putting on new vigor for the great fight with "the World, the Flesh and the Devil."

Though many are inclined to think we shall eventually unite on some common ground—all unite in worship; but I doubt if the creeds will ever settle the lines fully. Men can worship together, who will not think alike on anything that will furnish food for argument. I myself am a lineal descendant of Rev. James Noyes of Newbury, Rhoda Noyes being my maternal grandmother; my Marblehead maternal grandfather being of a Salem line of staunch Church of England folks, while my paternal ancestry is all Calvinistic down to my father who on account of an early experience, adopted the Universalists' message to the doubting Thomas part of the world, and whose antecedents are being celebrated at old Gloucester this week of August 1920.

After leaving the Old Church, I have taken orders under the New Church, who accept the interpretation of the Bible as given in the writings of Swedenborg, and whose form of administration is Congregational like our churches of the Merrimac Valley. The early history of the great struggle conducted under Noyes and his cousin Thomas Parker between Congregation and Presbytery, and the session to the modern congregational form of administration is too long and complicated to take the time in a short sketch like this one, but the tale of the acts of the Boston Presbyterians and the rebellion congregations of Essex County are well set forth in "The History of Newbury" old town by Currier, a book we should have in our Library some time. James Noyes was the father of Congregationalism in our section and I am more proud of my descent from this staunch defender of Democratic principles in matters of faith, than I would be of one from George Washington. I myself will not live to see it, but in worship, I feel sure some of the present young people will see the fulfillment of the Prophecy of Paul that at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow, of things in Heaven, on earth and under the earth. He will then be acknowledged by Jew and Gentile, Barbarian and Christian, as the I A M of the Old Testament as he claimed to Moses in Exodus 3:14 and that he was their I AM sent to them and again in John 8:58 "Before Abraham was I AM" to the people of his own town in Judea.

On this foundation all churches will stand as to one basic doctrine, the Divinity complete of Jesus Christ and his Holy Spirit always present to strive with men.

So in the name of James Noyes of Newbury I will set forth some of the honors that came down to Andover grandmothers. James and his brother Nicholas also of Newbury were the sons of Rev. William Noyes of Chouderton a town on the borders of Andover in Hants, England, and whose wife was Anne Parker, daughter of Rev. Robert, who had to go to Holland since his heterodoxy though a gifted clergyman. James married Sarah Brown, the daughter of Joseph of Southampton in 1633-4, and had been helping his cousin Thomas Parker teach school in old Newbury England, after leaving Oxford College. He was a remarkable Greek scholar by all accounts.

He was born in 1608, and married at 26. His brother Nicholas was younger and married a Newbury lass, Mary Cutting, daughter of Captain John over here and died in 1701. Most of the Noyes of Andover are from Rev. James. Rev. Thomas Parker, cousin of James and Nicholas, fetched over besides these two nephews, Rev. John Woodbridge, another Andover pioneer, whose mother was another daughter of Rev. Robert Parker. James took a position awhile in Medford, and was called to Watertown, but finally decided to begin with Rev. Thomas, his pastor at Newbury. He left at death in 1656, two daughters, Sarah (second so named) and Rebecca. I do not know as yet the fate of Rebecca Noyes but Sarah became the wife of Rev. John Hale of Beverly. He left several sons, whose tales are well related in the fine Noyes genealogy. Joseph and John may have died after 1656, but two were well-known clergymen, Rev. James of Stonington town, who married Dorothy Stanton, and Moses who was pastor of Old Lyme, Conn., for sixty years. Son William married Sarah Cogswell and was of Newbury. All left descendants.

Nicholas (1) had one son, Rev. Nicholas (2), born 1647, Harvard 1667, in Haddam till 1682, who stood high in ability as clergyman at Salem as colleague of Higginson after that date. He was prominent in the witchcraft trials and favored the prosecuting party. He died single in 1717.

There were several other families from the vicinity of Andover, Hants, who came over and among them was Peter of Sudbury, whose record as gentleman and state official covered a useful life from 1638 to 1657.

Savage says that considering the short distance between the residences of these Andover Noyes, William the clergyman and Peter the Squire, on the west border of Hants, and the east side of Wilts in which lies Andover, and their equally favorable social position in the days of Elizabeth, no doubt can be felt as to the common origin. By 1834 fifteen had been graduated at Harvard, twelve at Yale, who were from James, and eleven at other New England colleges. Captain Thomas (2) James (1), I will treat separately.

Variety in Cancellations

Gradually the list of cities is extending where special cancellations are being placed upon the United States 3 cent stamped envelopes in order to convert them into 2 cent ones, as explained recently by the editor. Philadelphia Des Moines, Indianapolis, St. Paul and Seattle may be added to this list, which already included New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston, Washington, Cincinnati, St. Louis and other cities. All these surcharge-varieties are going to comprise interesting collections, though it is probable that few of them will attain any great philatelic worth.—July Boys' Life.

It isn't making mistakes that causes worry so much as the fact that somebody else usually profits by them.

COURT OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

ESSEX, ss.

July term, A.D. 1920 held at Salem

Frank H. Hardy an attorney, inhabitants of the Town of Andover in said County, by their petition to said Commissioners, represent that common convenience and necessity require that certain changes should be made in the roads meeting at Frye Village, so called, and pray:

First: That Poor Street between Lowell Street and North Main Street, may be relocated so that it may have a new entrance to North Main Street at the place where a street has recently been constructed.

Second: That Poor Street from Corbit Road to Lowell Street may be relocated so that its new junction with Lowell Street shall be at or near North Main Street.

Third: That Lowell Street may be relocated from North Main Street to or beyond Poor Street.

Fourth: That Haverhill Street may be relocated from North Main Street to or beyond Burnham Road, and further that specific repairs be made on any of the above named roads, or any portions thereof may be discontinued as necessary.

This petition was entered at the December term, A. D. 1919, when notice was ordered given to all persons and corporations interested therein of the time and place when and where the Commissioners would meet for the purpose of viewing the premises and hearing the parties as by their order of notice on file and of record will more fully appear.

It having been made to appear that all persons and corporations interested therein had been duly notified of the time and place of meeting, we, the County Commissioners for said County, did on the 8th day of April A. D. 1919, meet at the Mill office at the corner of North Main Street and Haverhill Street in said town, when and where the parties appeared; and having viewed the premises and heard all parties who desired to be heard, we do now adjudge that common convenience and necessity require that said Poor Street, Lowell Street and Haverhill Street be relocated as set forth in the second, third and fourth parts of said petition, and that specific repairs be made thereon.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hands this 17th day of August in the year of our Lord One thousand nine hundred and twenty.

Slow Answers to Telephone Calls

Andover telephone users make over 5300 telephone calls every day.

Records show that on 184 of these calls the person called does not answer for a minute or more after the bell rings.

During the summer when subscribers spend a considerable portion of the time in yards or on piazzas, this percentage of slow answering is increased.

Answering promptly when the bell rings will assist in maintaining good telephone service.

JOHN N. COLE

Entered at Andover Postoffice as Second Class Matter

Your Date Next Tuesday

Everything ought to be politics in this issue of the Townsman, and so far as this column is concerned, that is what it will be. It ought to be politics because we are approaching the primary in Massachusetts where so much of the real electoral result is determined. This year more than ever the situation is disturbing because of the many candidates, because of the new factors that are involved in the voting, and because of complications in connection with some of the offices not easily understood.

No one can examine the long list of candidates for each of the state offices without wondering why it is that so many men of mediocre ability are found aspiring to important positions. Never was this so true as at the present time and it won't be surprising if anything happens in the voting. The old A B C notion was never as pronounced as it is today and never were the head-of-the-alphabet fellows open to more question. That doesn't mean that all the A B and C men are of doubtful capacity for we know better in many cases, but some of them are certainly pretty light-weights, and have evidently entered themselves in the list solely because their names will come first on the primary ballot. Here will be one of the best opportunities that the new woman voters will ever have to show that they have the capacity to analyze the ballot and determine the fitness of candidates, in passing over early initials for the more fit individual.

The Representative

We cannot conceive Andover's first duty to be other than consideration of its own individual representative at the State House. As has been stated in this column before, Dr. Abbott offers a rare chance for the voters to select a man of high type for state representative. There is no thought of questioning the right of others to run, and there is no reason for criticizing the qualifications of any man who may aspire to this position, but several things stand out as dominant factors.

The first is that the time has come for Andover itself to be represented, and not for the town to have a representative from North Andover, from which town the representative has come the last two years. The "tail has wagged the dog" as long as it ought to in this respect. The only possible exception to this would come from pre-eminent qualifications of a tried legislator. This situation does not exist and, in fact, the situation is as far from that as it could possibly be.

Second, Dr. Abbott is rarely qualified for the job. He knows human nature out of a school that is not surpassed in opportunities that it gives to learn human nature. He knows the town of Andover because he is an Andover boy, born and bred, and an Andover man in Andover service. He will command respect in the legislature such as Andover ought to command. He is of the human type who can be trusted to carry the Andover spirit into the legislative halls for the good of the rest of the state. However much a man may give consideration to the friendly vote, or the personal relationship, or even to the boasts based upon the much-abused claim of "superior Americanism", none of these should weigh at a time like this when in the great reconstruction we need men of calm judgment, of clear vision, of broad training, in legislative work. Dr. Abbott should get every vote in Andover on the natural platform that his long life and service in Andover have created for him.

County Contests

The Townsman does not intend to take any part in making a determination in connection with any of the other offices over which there are contests, except the single one of State Treasurer. We have in the county sharp fights for practically all of the county offices. For Commissioner, two men are to be chosen with a pretty well-grounded belief that it is any man's fight for second place, with one position assured to County Commissioner Poor. For Sheriff there is also a contest not easily forecasted, because of the large number of candidates, several of whom are totally unfitted for the work. If either one of two or three of the other men is chosen the office will be well administered.

For Senator

The district contest for senator appears to be largely in favor of the reelection of Senator Butler, although Representative Robertson has many friends in Andover, and Mayor Rushton is also not without local supporters. Senator Butler has had but a single term, made an excellent senator, and has the distinct advantage of a record that had pretty general approval.

The State Treasurer

One of the most unique contests in the history of Massachusetts politics is under way in the effort to defeat Treasurer Burrell for renomination. The contest is even more unique for the opportunity it offers for a type of work in which the new woman voter should be an important agency. The committee who chose a candidate around whom a contest could be built, have acted wisely in selecting Mr. James Jackson, well known to the women through his activities as the head of the American Red Cross for the state. Mr. Jackson is an excellent choice and if elected would make a highly efficient public officer. The natural tendency of the voter will be to mark his cross or to follow the line of least resistance in picking this candidate, and for this reason Mr. Burrell undoubtedly has a distinct advantage as his name is the only one on the ballot. To defeat him will require the placing of a sticker on the ballot and the marking of a cross against the name after it is placed on the ballot. These are processes requiring time, care, and interest. If either one is lacking a defective ballot is likely to follow. If all are combined and the full sense of responsibility which Massachusetts Republicans should feel with regard to public office in the state is present, the campaign for Mr. Jackson will be successful. If blind partisanship without any thought of the proper relation between business ethics and political ethics is followed, it will renominate and probably re-elect the present State Treasurer. The key to this situation is without question the vote of the women.

The primary comes on a bad day Tuesday, immediately following Labor Day. It will undoubtedly find many people away from home, and find many more who are at home absorbed in beginning their fall activities. This does not, however, justify any man or woman having the privilege to vote in not fully discharging his duty. The time required will be but a few minutes, and the few minutes may be taken on Tuesday, September 7, any time between twelve o'clock noon and eight o'clock in the evening. Don't be sent for, but vote early, vote wisely, and show that the Republicans of Massachusetts have sufficient sense to carry on a discriminating primary.

Editorial Cinders

The Assessors are to be congratulated on a tax rate of $24.50, an increase of only a dollar and a half over a year ago. This has come about without unduly adding to the town valuation although the valuation has been increased approximately a million and a half. But this is a big rate after all and it is going to hit pretty heavily some people when they get their bills at a rate of almost two and one half cents on every dollar of valuation that has been fixed against them.

Lieutenant Governor Cox may well feel pleased at the unanimity back of his elevation by the Republican party to the highest position in the state. To be sure the primary is not over, but having no contest the Lieutenant Governor's opportunity is already determined. Mr. Cox well deserves the confidence that is thus expressed by the voters. He has grown steadily from his first public service, and he stands today as one of the best trained men for Governor of Massachusetts that we have had in many a day. Added to all that, he has had the advantage of an association with Governor Coolidge that the state may well prize because of the influence which the Governor has exercised over his associates during all of his public life. No one need fear about Massachusetts with the worthy successor of Governor Coolidge at the head of affairs.

Five Game Series

Manager W. C. Crowley of the Andover council, K. of C. baseball team and Coach W. A. Sadley of the Smith & Dove A. A. have concluded arrangements to extend the series between the two teams to five games.

Two games already played have resulted in a win for each team and the third game is scheduled for next Monday afternoon, Labor Day, at the field day of the K. of C. This will be the big attraction of the day and all records for attendance will be broken.

The dates for the remaining games will be determined by the result of the Andover-Lawrence K. of C. game on Saturday. Should Lawrence win, the chances of Andover's winning the league championship will be gone, and Saturday, September 11 will be used for the fourth S. & D. — K. of C. game.

A victory for Andover Saturday, however, will mean a game on September 11, with Lawrence at Andover and the postponing of the local series till September 18.

Plans for Big Field Day

Plans are rapidly approaching completion for the monster field day to be held Labor Day on the local playstead by Andover Council 1078 Knights of Columbus. The executive committee and the sub-committees in charge of the various activities met Tuesday night in the council rooms and all reported progress. The committee on refreshments is anticipating a very large crowd and has made provisions for upward of 1500 persons. The committee on no elties has made arrangements for erecting six booths for a Midway and this feature is expected to be one of the most popular at the carnival.

In addition to the list of twenty-two sport events the sports committee has scheduled a baseball game between the K. of C. nine and the fast Smith & Dove team.

In the evening a band concert and dance will be held from 8 to 10. The dance committee has arranged to have a platform erected for the dancing and Millington's Band of Lawrence has been secured to furnish the music.

Tickets for the event are already out and were distributed at Tuesday night's meeting. They may be obtained from any of the members of Andover Council or at Crowley's Drug store.

Following is a list of the sport events which are open to all residents of Andover, and of Andover only:

50-yards—girls under 11 years.
75-yards—girls over 11 years.
50-yards—boys under 12 years.

Tendered Supper Party and Shower

Miss Thelma Wanamaker was the guest of honor at a delightful supper party and shower which was tendered her by the Hawthorne Club on Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lewis on Central street.

The affair was planned as a surprise and the well-laid plans of Miss Wanamaker's friends were carried out with great success. When she called for Mrs. Lewis, expecting to go canoeing, she was quite overcome to find the company assembled and a delicious supper all in readiness. The basket of beautiful gifts which were brought in just after the table was cleared completed the surprise.

Those present were Miss Thelma Wanamaker, Mrs. Ada Cole Brown of Providence, Mrs. Walter Tabor of West Medford, Miss Edna Bennett of Tewksbury, Mrs. Percy Crosby, Mrs. Richard Abbott, Miss Marion Dearborn, Miss Maria Fairweather, Miss Sadie Elliott, Miss Marjorie Sherman, and Mrs. Arthur Lewis.

Obsequies

MRS. CATHERINE O'CONNELL

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine O'Connell, who died last Friday at her home, 16 Ridge street, as a result of injuries received in a fall, was held from her late home Monday morning.

High mass of requiem was sung in St. Augustine's church, at 9:30 o'clock by Rev. Fr. William J. McCormick. At the offertory, the choir sang "Pie Jesu." The burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery.

The bearers were Dr. E. C. Conroy, David O'Connell, William Welch and Augustine Nolan.

Saves Life of Drowning Boy

The prompt and courageous action of Alex McLaughlin, an overseas veteran, who without a moment's hesitation plunged, fully dressed, into Hussey's Pond, to rescue the 8-year-old son of Walter Walker, of 440 North Main street, as he was sinking for the last time, prevented a tragedy in Shawheen village last Tuesday afternoon.

The little Walker boy with other children was playing at the pond shortly before six o'clock, when unnoticed by his companions he fell from the raft. The screams of a woman who realized his peril attracted the attention of MacLaughlin who is a meat-cutter at the Shawheen market. Realizing there was not a moment to be lost, and without stopping to remove even his long butcher's frock, he dived after the drowning boy.

More than one attempt was necessary as the unfortunate child had sunk for the last time and was lying at the bottom of the pond. Assisted by Mr. Kenney, manager of the Shawheen market, and several Italians who had appeared on the scene, first aid was administered and consciousness was restored. Dr. Walker was summoned and later carried the boy to his home, where he seems to be none the worse for his experience.

Mr. McLaughlin is receiving much commendation for his quick and effective action without which the boy would undoubtedly have lost his life.

One Pipe—The Modern way to Heat

THE MAGEE ONE-PIPE FURNACE is the new principle in heating to which the householder may confidently look for the realization of what he has always hoped for in his heater—"hoped for" but never "realized."

To-day this realization is made possible by the unique features presented in the Magee system. Through its single warm-air pipe, the Magee sends all of the warm air which is generated, upstairs into the house where it is needed. Coal bills do not look so large when you realize that all of the coal heat which you pay for is utilized; no part of it is wasted. Think it over and

Cover Blows Off Vulcanizer

A cover weighing a ton was blown from the vulcanizing tank belonging to the Mechanical Rubber company at Tyler Rubber factory No. 2 shortly before five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Although the huge missile bounded from wall to partition and back into the center of the room, neither of the two men who were near the vulcanizer at the time were struck. Edward Hill of Pine street was burned about the face by escaping steam, but his injuries are not considered serious. The tank used for curing rubber had just been filled and the cover fastened in the usual manner. When the steam pressure was raised to twenty pounds, with a loud explosion accompanied by a shattering of glass, the cover was thrown from the tank cutting a piece out of the brick wall. It was deflected from the wall toward the tracks used in moving supplies about the room, broke up some motors which were waiting to be installed and having reduced the wooden partition to kindling wood, ended its mad career.

No cause for the accident has been discovered and the marvel is that no more serious damage resulted.

Weddings

STILES—KEITHLEY

George Burton Stiles of Groveland and Miss Lillian Keithley of Lawrence, were married last Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of Rev. George C. Jenkins, pastor of the Baptist church, Salem, N. H. The couple were unattended and the double ring service was used. The bride was attired in a green traveling suit.

After the ceremony the newly married couple departed on a short wedding journey to Hampton beach. They will be at home to friends at 282 Main street, Groveland. Mr. Stiles who is the son of George W. Stiles of Washington avenue, has been in Groveland several years, where he has established a business in plumbing and heating.

McELROY—COLLINS

Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock a very pretty wedding took place in St. Augustine's Church, when Thomas H. McElroy, supervisor of the Latin department in the Lawrence High school, took Miss Elizabeth G. Collins as his bride. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Charles M. Driscoll, assistant general O. S. A. The double ring service was used. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Daniel F. Murray of the Lawrence Trust Company.

The maid of honor was Miss Rosemond A. Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Murray of 11 Jackson terrace, Lawrence. She was becomingly attired in a turquoise blue tulle dress with large American beauty roses caught in the folds, and wore a gold picture hat. She carried a handsome bouquet of American beauty roses.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white georgette with a satin train. Her veil was of white tulle caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas.

The bridegroom was attended by Walter Mooney of New Jersey as best man. The ushers were Raymond C. McIntosh, John L. Dugan, both of Andover, Charles B. Mooney, and Augustine G. Whelan, both of Lawrence, and D. F. Murray.

The following clergymen were seated inside the altar, Rev. Frs. P. S. Riordan, J. A. Nugent, P. J. Campbell, J. McCormick, M. Milanese, M. A. Sullivan, Bartley and McAlaren.

The gift to the bride was a diamond ring with platinum setting. Mr. Murray and the ushers each received a pair of solid gold cuff links with their initials engraved on them. The best man received a solid gold K. of C. signal ring.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at "The Maples", the home of the bride where Caterer Page of Lowell served a chicken dinner. Eighty guests were present from New Jersey, Springfield, Lynn, Lowell, Lawrence, Andover, Washington, Beverly, Philadelphia and York Harbor, Maine. In the receiving line were Mrs. Daniel F. Murray, Mrs. Charles P. Mooney, Miss N. A. Collins, and Mrs. L. Folsom of York Harbor, Maine. The house was very prettily decorated with golden rod, asters, sweet fern and potted plants and palms. O'Sullivan's orchestra rendering selections and dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

Mr. McElroy served overseas two years in the quartermaster's corps.

On their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. McElroy will tour through the White Mountains, and will visit at York Harbor, Maine. They will be at home after Nov. 1.

Andover Post Meets Tuesday

A regular meeting of Andover Post, No. 8, American Legion, will be held at post headquarters next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. This is the first meeting after the summer recess and it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

William Holden and Lester F. Abbott, delegates to the Legion state convention held recently at Springfield, will be represented and give reports.

Victory medal application blanks have been received and ex-service men can receive them at the meeting. Clerical assistance will be rendered in filling in the necessary data.

Plans for the fall campaign will be made and the Legion will arrange for a big affair in the town hall on November 11, Armistice day, when the Victory medals will be presented. The new by-laws for the post will also be considered at the meeting.

It is hoped to form a Woman's Auxiliary to the post and application for a charter has been made.

A STRONG INDORSEMENT

Councillor Harris Has the Hearty Support of His Colleagues

To the Voters of the Fifth Councillor District.

We are approaching a very important primary election and on next Tuesday, September 7th, we shall make our choice of State officers for the next two years.

Among the important officers to be chosen at this primary election on next Tuesday is that of Secretary of the Commonwealth. It has been my pleasure as well as my privilege to have served during the past three years as a member of the Governor's Council with Councillor James G. Harris of Medford, who is now a candidate for Secretary of the Commonwealth. Mr. Harris is a man of unquestioned integrity and ability, is efficient and progressive. He acted upon all matters without prejudice, having in mind only what was best for the interests of the State. He is well acquainted with the finances of the Commonwealth, being a member of the finance committee of the Council for the past three years which has passed upon millions of dollars in appropriations.

Mr. Harris will bring to the office of Secretary of the Commonwealth an experience in public affairs, both city and state, that will be a valuable asset to the state, and our good old Commonwealth is to be congratulated that a man of the stamp of the Hon. James G. Harris is willing to offer his services to her in this highly important office.

I trust that the people, who after all are the real parties in interest, will do their part in securing the nomination of Mr. Harris on Tuesday next. By so doing, you will not merely be bestowing a well-deserved favor upon him, but you will also be rendering a worthy service to your Commonwealth.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES F. INGRAHAM

Severe Thunderstorm

Andover was visited by another severe thunderstorm Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by torrents of rain and a miniature cyclone.

At the farm of Jacob Glowacki on Gray road, known as the Old Tucker place, a silo building was torn from its foundations and deposited in the field practically destroying it.

Reports from various parts of the town show that several trees were blown down, fences broken and the streets littered with branches and big limbs. The fire alarm system suffered from broken branches and two circuits were put out of commission till after seven o'clock. The repairs were taken care of promptly by the permanent men at the Central Fire Station.

Mills Closed for Vacation

The local textile plants Smith and Dove and Marland Mills have closed until after Labor day to give the employees their annual vacation.

The Smith and Dove mills closed Friday night to reopen Tuesday, Sept. 7. Marland mills, the greater part of which has been on three days a week for some time closed Wednesday night, August 25, and will reopen Tuesday, Sept. 7, according to a statement of Moses T. Stevens, of the M. T. Stevens Co., owners of the plant.

Obituaries

TIMOTHY MCCARTHY

After a week's illness Timothy McCarthy of Shawheen Road died last Friday evening at eight o'clock. He was born in Ireland seventy-four years ago but came to this country when about fourteen years of age, and has lived the greater part of his life in Andover. He was married to Ellen Ryan of Lawrence. He is survived by three sons, Dennis, Timothy and Joseph, and by two daughters, Catherine and Mary.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the late home with a requiem mass in St. Augustines church.

Mass was sung by Rev. Fr. P. J. Campbell; at the offertory the choir sang "De Profundis." As the body was borne from the church Miss Gertrude McCartney, organist, played the Dead March from Saul.

Burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery.

The bearers were Patrick Driscoll, John Coyle, Thomas Connelly, Joseph Albanese and Patrick Daley.

MRS. WILLIAM T. SELLERS

Mrs. Mabel T. Sellers, wife of William T. Sellers, passed away Saturday afternoon at the family home, Highland road, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Sellers was born in Lawrence forty-nine years ago, and for the past twenty-eight years had resided in Andover.

She leaves besides her husband, seven daughters; Mrs. Mabel A. Miller of Beverly, Mrs. Mary Hooper of Hamilton, Bermuda, Mrs. William H. Kelley of Chicago, Bessie J., Ruth R., Grace A., and Eunice E. of Andover; a son, William W. of Andover and five grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the late home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. F. A. Wilson, pastor emeritus of the Free church and interment was in Spring Grove cemetery.

The bearers were William W. Sellers, Samuel A. Mayer, Walter Locke, Arthur Comeau, Arthur Pallister and L. Pomeroy.

HENRY P. KIRWIN

Henry P. Kirwin of 214 North Main street, died Sunday night at the Lawrence Municipal hospital. He was born in Salisbury and had been a resident of Andover for many years. He was employed at the International Worsted mills, Methuen.

He is survived by a daughter Winifred, a son, Edgar P., two sisters, Mrs. John Coffey and Mrs. Eugene Benson, and one brother, John Kirwin.

The funeral took place from the home of his son, Edgar Kirwin, 52 Essex street, Wednesday morning. Mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Augustine's church. The body was forwarded to Gardner for interment in the family lot.

The South Church Repairs

The work upon the interior of the church has been pushed vigorously and the hard wood floors have been finished. The pews have been repaired and set in their places, and are being retouched by the painters with walnut finish. The walls are being decorated with the final colors and the whole auditorium is expected to be ready for occupancy Sunday morning, September 12.

The heavy thunderstorm which passed over the village Tuesday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock, caused considerable damage to shade trees and fruit trees. Several were blown down and the branches of many others were badly broken. An apple tree loaded with fruit belonging to Fred Shattuck of Center street, had the entire top lifted off and gardens also suffered from the heavy downpour of rain.

Local S. of V. Team Won

The Haverhill Sons of Veterans visited the Andover Sons of Veterans on the local playstead to determine the much disputed claim of being able to out-general the other, which terminated by being one of the most exciting games played by either this season.

Both are strong teams but Andover won by the score of 12 to 8.

The features of the game were the three home runs made by Guy Conkey, Charles Kibbee and Harold Wells in "Babe Ruth" style.

The Haverhill team played an exceptional game and showed their fighting spirit until the last of the ninth inning.

The lineup of the Andover nine was as follows: Robert Kibbee, 1b.; Harold Wells, c.; Charles Kibbee, s.s.; Guy Conkey, p.; Kenneth Kibbee, 2b.; Charles Fairbrother, 3b.; Harry Flint, 1f.; William Hatch, r.f.; Arthur Miller, c.f.

Interesting Relic Found

While Herbert Clarke and George Litchfield were removing the shingles from the roof of the barn formerly owned by John S. Stark, and now occupied by Patrick McGovern, they found an old Boston Journal newspaper.

It was dated August 8, 1894, and had the following names written on each corner of the pages: Page 1, A. A. Bush; Page 2, J. W. Stark; Page 3, A. B. Loomer; Page 4, Herbert Moody, and page 7, Louis Buck.

While Herbert Moody, the carpenter, was shingling the roof of the barn, one of the above named gentlemen proposed buying a newspaper and writing their names on each page and putting it under the shingles as they were nailed to the roof. This was done and perhaps forgotten, until found by Mr. Litchfield.

The carpenter, Mr. Moody, has been dead fourteen years, and A. A. Bush, who was formerly a butcher here, is living in Pittsfield, Mass. The other three men are well known locally.

The paper is now at the home of Louis Buck, Marland road.

Dasheen Comes to Aid of Potato

The first carload of American-grown dasheens recently arrived at New York. They were grown on the east coast of Florida. Owing to the limited quantities shipped to market at present the vegetable, which is recommended as a substitute for the potato in locations where that crop can not be grown, is high in price, selling for as much as 15 cents a pound in New York within the past week.

The Trinidad dasheen, which is a particularly fine flavored variety of the taro, is one of 46,000 foreign plants introduced into the United States by the Department of Agriculture. It would yield here in the belief that which could be used to supplement the potato. It contains 50 per cent more starch and 50 per cent more protein than the potato.

Dasheens can not be grown in the North, but they are finding favor among consumers in that section of the country. Dealers in Washington and New York report that they are having difficulty in meeting the demand for the new tuber, even at the high prices.

Ex-Senator Bean Candidate

Ex-Senator James W. Bean, candidate for the Republican nomination for Secretary of the Commonwealth at next Tuesday's primary election, is one of the best known Republicans in the state and few men surpass him in their knowledge of the affairs of the state.

Senator Bean has had a wide experience in the field of legislation during the past 12 years, seven of which he was a member of either the House of Representatives or the Senate in both of which he was regarded as a leader. Serving as a member of the committee on rules of both branches, six years as a member of the ways and means committee and other important committees gave him a rare opportunity for service as well as acquaintance with the government of the state. He was most attentive to his work and gained a reputation as one of the hard-working members.

Senator Bean has been engaged in the newspaper business all his life and for the past 30 years has been one of the publishers of the Cambridge Chronicle, the leading newspaper in the University city.

Senator Bean is well qualified to take charge of the office of Secretary of the Commonwealth both from training and experience, and he has the support of thousands of Republicans throughout the state.

Federal Income Tax Due

Sixty-five thousand persons in this state will owe Uncle Sam the third installment of their Federal income tax, September 15th and all of them will receive statements through the mail within the next few days reminding them of this obligation.

Payments are due at the office of Collector John J. Mitchell on or before the close of business September 15, and to facilitate the handling of this amount of business the Collector requests that no returns be made until the statements have been received and then the statements and remittances be returned together.

In sending out the statements, Collector Mitchell asks taxpayers to avoid the practice of sending one check to cover several accounts without sending any explanation with it. It frequently happens that a firm will send a check for the accounts of several of its employees or that one member of a family will send one check in payment of all family accounts, without stating what the check is for. In the case of a local concern, a few months ago a check for $5000 was applied to the firm's account only to find later on that it was intended to cover the installments of twenty employees who, by that time, had been declared delinquent.

Many people, it was noted at this time last year, paid their third and fourth installments together instead of waiting three months more to make final payment, and Collector Mitchell expects many others will follow the same plan this year.

Taxpayers are reminded that failure to make their payments on or before September 15, will result in the penalties required by law being automatically imposed, as the regulations state if any installment is not paid when due the whole amount of the tax unpaid becomes due and payable upon notice and demand by the Collector. If any tax remains unpaid for 15 days after notice and demand by the Collector, interest at the rate of one per cent per month from the due date and a penalty of five per cent are added.

It is also important to have checks and money orders made payable to "Collector of Internal Revenue" and that they be sent to the proper address, Little Building, 80 Boylston Street, Boston 11.

The sign of a reliable dealer and the world's best Gasoline

Every motor highway and by-way throughout picturesque New England and New York is a part of the long "Socony Trail".

"Every Gallon the Same"

PITTSFIELD is a favorite rendezvous for those motoring through the beautiful Berkshires. And, as in other similar meeting places throughout New England and New York, the familiar Socony signs of supreme motoring service are there.

The Standard Oil Company of New York has grown hand in hand with the automobile industry. It has standardized gasoline quality, and by large-volume production has made it available everywhere.

Socony service has grown similarly with the needs of the automobile users of every community. It has not been content with merely supplying these needs but has usually anticipated them. For a decade, in city and country alike, the Standard Oil sign has been a symbol of dependable service and quality.

Socony gasoline is made and sold today under standard conditions. Every gallon is like every other gallon—as clean, quick-starting and full of power and mileage as the most modern refining methods can make it.

For complete, all-season motoring satisfaction, fill up regularly with Socony gasoline—you can get it everywhere.

Look for the red, white and blue Socony sign.

Totin' The Load

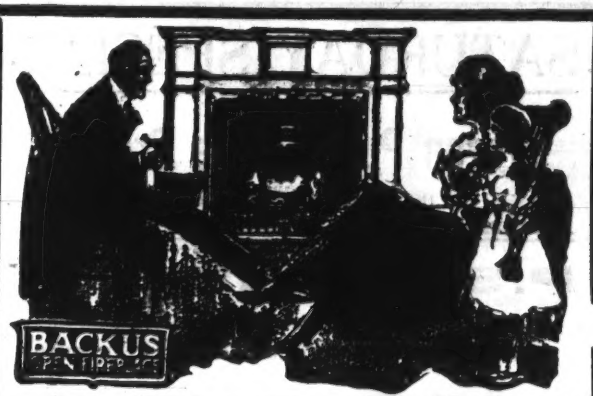

"In the wilderness a man's pack is not estimated by its weight, but by the speed with which he can carry it," says Belmore Browne in Boys' Life for July. "At first glance this seems unfair but when we study the matter we find that it insures perfect justice. Suppose that three men are starting on a hard back-packing trip into the mountains. One of them is an 'old timer' fifty-five years of age; the next is a 'moose,' powerful; built and in his prime, and the third is a slim built lad unused to the hardships of packing. After eliminating every possible item from their outfit they find that they have one hundred and fifty pounds to carry. The question now arises as to how the weight will be distributed. The 'moose,' looking his partners over, says 'I'm huskier than you fellows so I'll tote seventy pounds.' The 'old timer' looks the lad over, and says, 'I'm a tougher bird than the kid, so I'll strap my harness on to fifty pounds.' This leaves a thirty pound pack for the lad, and after arranging their loads, they tramp off towards the mountains. After an hour has passed the 'moose' begins to draw away from his companions. He tramps easily up hills that cause his two companions to gasp for breath. When they sink onto the moss for a hard earned rest, he moves about eating blueberries and enjoying the scenery. After a particularly hard pull the 'old timer' says, 'We'll stop here awhile and whack up our loads.' 'How's that?' 'I'm carryin' more than you fellows,' the 'moose' retorts. 'Why it's this way,' the 'old timer' explains, 'the kid and me are workin' harder than you be, an' the means that we're totin' heavier loads.' "Wrong as it may seem, the old prospector is right: from the viewpoint of justice and efficiency the speed of a party is restricted to the speed of the weakest member, and the only way to reach the highest efficiency is to take weight from the slowest and add it to the fastest. The meat-eating Indians of the far northwest have worked out this plan to a very fine point, for they allow the old men, who know the wilderness like an open book, to go without packs so that they may be free to choose the best trails for the heavily loaded young men. "This spirit of fair play and efficiency should be followed by every scout, for by increasing your own load you are helping someone and adding to your knowledge of weight-carrying at the same time."

Preparatory work is being done on the field to the west of Burnham road where it is being leveled off to make room for a number of new houses in the vicinity of Oxford street.

The Turner Construction company has been awarded the contract to erect a new warehouse for the American Woolen company on the South side of Argyle street, Shawshen village. Work was begun on Monday.

The building which is to be three hundred feet long and three stories high will be constructed of concrete and brick. It will be used exclusively for the storage of furnished goods for export. Argyle street runs from the river to the tracks of the Boston and Maine railroad and is parallel to Haverhill street. The warehouse is the first building to be erected in this section of the village.

Work is progressing rapidly on the erection of the new drug store and tea room for Shawshen Village on Main street, opposite "Aberfoyle". The building is of brick and will be modern in every detail.

Several new houses are also being built on Main and Poor streets and there will be plenty of work in Shawshen Village until the snow flies.

When Royalty Receives

The first Court at Buckingham Palace since the beginning of the war was held last week and a record number of presentees courted to their Majesties, King George V and Queen Mary.

The American Ambassador, John W. Davis, was attended by thirteen members of the American diplomatic body and Mrs. Davis was attended by the wives of several of the American diplomatic officials, her daughter, Miss Julia Davis, and her niece, Miss Katherine Watson.

Queen Mary had decreed many changes in the old-time court dress—shorter trains, narrower skirts and, last but not least, the omission of the unbecoming feather head-dress.

All this was done in the name of economy, but it scarcely seemed to serve this purpose. While shortening the train and narrowing the skirt may have curtailed the quantity of the fabrics used, the quality seemed to have soared. Only the most gorgeous and exquisite satins, brocades and laces were in evidence. And doing away with the old-time head-dress which has been the mark of court toilettes for so many, many years only gave each woman a chance to substitute the most extravagantly jeweled tiaras and other adornments.—Dry Goods Economist.

Misses Lavinia and Pennie Walker have been spending two days in Revere with friends.

Miss Marion Matthews has returned to her home from a vacation spent at York Beach, Me.

Miss Margaret Richardson, who has been visiting relatives in the Vale, left this week for her home in Heading.

Miss Sadie Kent of Lowell, who has been suffering from an infected foot for the past few months, is reported much improved.

Miss Nellie Matthews, who is employed at the Marland Mills office, is having her annual vacation, part of which she is spending in Providence.

Will Teach in Wakefield

Miss Grace M. Riley, who has been teaching in the schools at Halifax, Mass., during the past year, has accepted a position to teach in Wakefield.

Miss Riley is a graduate of Pynchard High in the class of 1917 and of Lowell Normal in the class of 1919. She was chosen as teacher in the Halifax schools, which place she has most acceptably filled during the past year. She was re-elected at the close of the school year in June and would have returned there if no better position had been offered.

She will probably teach in the fourth or fifth grades and the school to which she has been assigned will be given later.

WATCH REPAIRING

The prime importance of a watch is its ability to keep time, a watch that has not been properly cleaned and repaired cannot keep accurate time.

And to clean a watch properly it must be taken completely apart, thoroughly washed in Benzine, cyanide of potassium, hot soap and water, and dried with alcohol and sawdust. All top jewels must be inspected and cleaned. The balance wheel pivots must be examined for imperfections and perfectly polished, on the adjusted grades the hair springs must be removed, the balances trued and poised. The manipulation of these delicate operations characterizes the watchmaker, the expert is considered a craftsman, an adjuster and repairer.

Watch repairing of this quality done in a conscientious and efficient manner is sure to be satisfactory and is worthy of any person's consideration who is willing to pay more to get the best.

It is profitable to consult an expert.
